PROFILE

An Aspiring Data Analyst, building strong foundations through a blend of academic study and self-learning. Focused on developing practical skills while actively exploring various tools and concepts used in real-world data analysis.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Currently no prior experience as I am at the beginning of my journey. Learning through structured courses and deep conceptual exploration, with a strong emphasis on mastering fundamentals. Naturally Curious and consistent in effort, I enjoy breaking down problems and steadily improving my analytical thinking.

My short-term goal is to become job-ready as a data analyst and work on meaningful, hands-on projects. I'm open to learning opportunities and internships where I can grow, apply my skills, and learn from real industry exposure.
